What is one piece of advice you would give to your younger self?

If I could offer one piece of advice to my younger self, it would be to embrace the idea that life is about exploring new things and remaining open to new opportunities, even in the face of change or uncertainty. The concept of a "new normal" can be intimidating, but it's also a source of growth and learning. So, I would encourage my younger self to approach life with curiosity and adaptability, knowing that each new experience, challenge, or opportunity is a chance to learn, grow, and evolve.

How would you envision your future self to be like in the next 5 years? What would you have hoped to achieve or accomplish?

In the next five years, I envision my future self as an expert in product management, a successful product lead who not only drives the business but also plays a pivotal role in ensuring our customers' success. I aspire to have a profound impact on the products I work on, making them more efficient, user-friendly, and innovative. By then, I hope to have built a strong track record of product launches and improvements, contributing significantly to my organization's growth and reputation.

Is there a figure in your life that you look up to and why?

One figure in my life whom I deeply admire is Sun Yat Sen. His visionary leadership and tireless efforts in leading the Xinhai Revolution and founding the Republic of China have left an indelible mark on history. Sun Yat Sen's dedication to the principles of democracy, nationalism, and the well-being of his fellow citizens serves as an enduring source of inspiration for me. His commitment to change and his ability to unite people towards a common goal are qualities I strive to emulate in my own life.

How would your close friends describe you?

My close friends often describe me as trustworthy, confident, and someone who knows exactly what I want to achieve. They appreciate my unwavering support and the fact that they can confide in me. My confidence stems from a deep understanding of my goals and a determination to work tirelessly to attain them. They often rely on my determination and trust in my abilities, both of which I consider important aspects of my personality.

What is your favourite quote/motto in life that keeps you going, and why?

One of my favorite quotes in life that continuously motivates me is, "With great power comes great responsibility." This timeless wisdom, often attributed to Uncle Ben from Spider-Man, resonates with me on multiple levels. It reminds me that as I gain knowledge, skills, or influence, I have a responsibility to use them for the betterment of others and society as a whole. This quote encapsulates the importance of ethical conduct and the impact one's actions can have, which I find deeply meaningful and inspiring.

What were some of your most memorable moments in NTU?

During my time at NTU, I had the opportunity to create cherished memories in various aspects of my student life. The most unforgettable moments include the intense and exhilarating fencing club training. These sessions not only improved my physical fitness but also provided a strong sense of camaraderie with fellow fencers. Additionally, I thoroughly enjoyed my design courses, which allowed me to explore my creative side and develop problem-solving skills. Lastly, the serene and productive study sessions at the ADM library hold a special place in my heart, as they were moments of academic growth and self-discovery.
